

Harrison Bible Reading Plan

The Harrison Bible Reading Plan is a year-long reading plan named after Lt. General William K. Harrison, Jr. (1936-1987). General Harrison was part of the US Army's 30th Infantry Division during World War II and received numerous accommodations during his military career. However, one of the most important disciplines in his life, arguably, was his disciplined reading of scripture. Even in his demanding life, General Harrison made time to consistently stay in God's word.

Starting as a young cadet at West Point, he began reading through the Bible every year. He would read through the Old Testament once each year and through the New Testament four times each year.¹ He continued this reading process until he died at the age of 91, having "read through the Old Testament seventy times and the New Testament 280 times!"²

One's life can't help but be influenced by such prolonged exposure to God's word. One author noted that "his godliness and wisdom were proverbial, "people marveled at his knowledge of the Bible and the ability to bring its light to every area of life," and "his presence brought a distinct sense of Christ."³

Inspired by the life and discipline of General Harrison, this plan was developed based on the known details of his Bible reading process. By reading six chapters each day, it allows an individual to read through the Old Testament once and the New Testament four times in a year. In addition, you will read through the Psalms twice.

If you enjoy the reading plan, consider following General Harrison's example and starting your own lifelong practice of Bible reading by restarting once you've reached the end.

This plan can be started at any point in the year, so no need to wait for a new year to roll around to begin spending time, daily, in God's word!
